

REDUCING COSTS WHILE CREATING ENGAGED & ALIGNED EMPLOYEES

We know that HR leaders face many challenges such as new reporting requirements and securing funding to enable departments to offer competitive benefits and attract the best talent.

As the healthcare industry continues to shift toward performance-based care models, HR leaders must stay focused on recruiting, retaining, and engaging their organization's executive teams and workforce.

In a landscape in which HR managers struggle with their current budget, finding ways to further reduce costs in order to invest in talent management continues to be difficult. WHA can help by providing insight and information on leadership compensation and competencies, succession planning, physician leadership, workforce engagement, and much more.

Our resident expert Elizabeth Hankel, WHA's Chief Human Resource Officer offers more than 35 years of healthcare experience - 30 of those as an HR executive and consultant for a variety of small and large health care systems and associations. Passionate about her work, Elizabeth is recognized nationally as a leader in HR strategy and transformation.
